

Ang Li was born in Jilin, China. He obtained his B.Sc. at Peking University (China) where he worked with Prof. Zhen Yang. He earned his Ph.D. at The Scripps Research Institute (USA) in 2009 and carried out postdoctoral research at Institute of Chemical and Engineering Sciences (Singapore) in 2010, under the supervision of Prof. K.C. Nicolaou. He joined the faculty of Shanghai Institute of Organic Chemistry (SIOC), Chinese Academy of Sciences in 2010. His research has been focused on total synthesis of natural products. He received Tetrahedron Young Investigator Award for Organic Synthesis in 2017.